

Garmin Express showing I've got approximately 40% storage space used, but no maps.

The screenshot shows the Garmin Express application window. The title bar reads "Garmin Express" and includes standard window controls (minimize, maximize, close) and a help icon. Below the title bar, a blue header bar displays a home icon, a smartphone icon, and the text "Edge 1030 Plus" with a green dot and the word "Connected".

The main content area is mostly blank, with a large grey rectangular area on the left side. At the bottom right of this area is a light blue button labeled "Apply Changes".

At the bottom of the window, there is a storage usage legend and a progress bar. The legend includes three categories: "Other" (green square), "Maps" (dark blue square), and "Free" (grey square). The progress bar shows a green segment representing "Other" usage, which is approximately 40% of the total bar length. A help icon is visible in the bottom right corner of the legend area.

Windows Explorer showing I've got nearly 100% free
